AMS Heli Design has received a FAA supplementary type certificate (STC) for its new lightweight emergency medical services interior for the Leonardo AW109 and AW119. The Advanced Life Support System (ALSS) has been developed with feed back from medical transportation specialists and can be removed within 10 minutes for cleaning and quick change purposes.

The company says the ability to remove and re-install the interior components so quickly to allow cleaning is a great advantage for corrosion prevention and daily cleaning operations.
